

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method and apparatus for shortening the time to emulation and user-friendliness of a hardware emulation system is disclosed that places adjustable delay elements at the inputs to each flip-flop in a design after the user's design has been compiled. The user selects the amount 5 of delay to be programmed into the adjustable delay element.